MISCELLANEOUS.

AN HOUR BESIDE THEE.

O, for an hour beside thee,
My dearest and my own;
To see thy glowing cheek of love,
And hear thy melting tone!
Sweet visions of the past!
In memory they rise,
When thou wast all the world to me—
And truth and love, and purity,
Beamed in thy tranquil eyes.
An hour—one hour beside thee—
To hear thee speak again
Of golden prospects—joys to come—
When life should have no pain.
Oh, when shall I behold thee,
My gentle one—my own?
And taste the pleasures once were mine,
When love and pure affections join,
And truth divinely shone!

Optional Sleep.

"Pray Jack, do you sleep?" said Ned;
"What makes you ask?" he slowly said—
"Because of you or Sam,
I want to borrow half a crown,
For something I love in town!"
"Why, then," says Jack "I am."

ANECDOTE OF GEN. SCOTT.

A LEAF FROM UNPUBLISHED HISTORY.

It is well known that after the victories of Vera Cruz, Cerro Gordo, the National Bridge, &c., Gen. Scott encamped or bivouacked at Puebla, waiting the arrival of reinforcements. His whole force at this time amounted to about eight thousand one hundred men. It will also be remembered that during his stay at that place, Mr. Polk, then President of the United States, did appoint, with powers to treat with the enemy, overriding the military authority of General Scott and Taylor, Trust furnishing him with credentials, and speeding him on his way to the aforesaid town of Puebla. Of the action of Mr. Trust, but little seems to be known, for he is anything but a vaunting man. Parly for the purpose of doing credit to one whose head and heart are an honor to him and to his whole country, I give you the following history of his arrival, and some subsequent matters, but little known or talked about. Gen. Scott was made aware of the coming of the new commissioner and received from him, according to the etiquette of the camp, due notice. But in no instance did he acknowledge the presence of the Commissioner, nor talk, or change the discipline of the camp, or confer with any of his officers on the subject of Mr. Trust's visit. Things went on as if there was no such man as Nicholas Trust, and no such President as James K. Polk.

His proper place to state that the General and Commissioner had never met in their lives, and were personally unknown to each other. Mr. Trust was much chagrined, and after three days, was seized with so violent a fit of indignation at what he deemed contumacious treatment, that the fever of the country, so fatal to citizens of more northern climates, set in, and threatened to put a stop to his commission and his life. On the morning of the second day his situation had become quite critical; a stranger, of tall stature and commanding mien, attired in a citizen's suit of plain blue cloth, appeared at the door of the house in which the sick man was lodged, and requested to see the patient. As he was unaccompanied by any person known to the inmates of the house, he was refused admittance. He however would take no denial, pushed his way even to the bedside of the sufferer. Finding him awake he immediately felt his pulse, and the following colloquy took place:

Stranger. What medicines have you taken?

Nurse. These they were prescribed by Dr.

Stranger. (tasting.) These are not suited to his complaint. Paldi (throwing them out of the window.)

Trust. (feebly.) You appear to be conversant with diseases, and are, I presume, a physician?

Stranger. I have the charge of a considerable number of men as overseer—and it has become necessary for me, both on my own account and theirs, to be familiar with sickness and its remedies.

Trust. Can you cure me?

Stranger. I will try. Here (bringing) take this in the camp dispensary. (Writing what I have written out—I will stay with Mr. Trust until you return. (Exit nurse.)

Trust. Are you a planter of the country?

Stranger. I might perhaps claim to be—I have sown some seed, and hope to reap for my owners, a satisfactory harvest.

Trust. How large a tract do you cultivate?

Stranger. Its limits are as yet undefined. We are at variance with some troublesome neighbors—but our difficulties are in a course of adjustment before a competent tribunal, and we confidently expect to get our claims allowed.

Trust. I trust you may. Will you remain long here?

Stranger. Only six feet four! But in truth I depart in ten days.

Trust. I conclude you are a native of Mexico, yet you speak English with the accuracy of our own people.

Stranger. I have taken and given some lessons on Niagara Frontier.

Trust. Indeed! then you are no stranger in our country.

Stranger. I have traveled some with trunks.

Nurse. (entering.) I asked how much was to pay, and they wanted to know if it was a tall man that gave me the paper, and when I said 'yes,' they said they guessed they wouldn't take any money.

Stranger. All right—(writing.) Give as prescribed. I will see you again in the morning, sir. Your speedy recovery will be rendered more sure, by injunctions, which I will give, to keep every body out of your room, except the nurse.

Meanwhile do not fret yourself by undue anxiety; I feel the highest confidence in your safety—get all the repose you can. (Leaving.)

Trust. But one word more. To whom am I indebted for the extraordinary attentions!

Stranger. Oh, should you have occasion to send for me in the course of the day, let your messenger inquire for Mr. Scott, at the American camp. Men do sometimes call me Major General of the Armies of the United States, but of those things I make little account. Ah, Mr. Trust, we are but worms of the dust, and titles without deeds can never be of title to possessions either in this world or another. But now indeed you must excuse me. Adieu.

Trust got well. Scott with his 3,100 men, departed for Mexico within ten days. Trust followed, inconspicuously participated as a volunteer in the battles of Churubusco, Contreras, San Antonio, Molino del Rey, Chapultepec, and at the Gates of Mexico; and having seen the man, whom he loves and honors more than any man living, in possession of the City of the Montezumas, took an escort to Vera Cruz—landed at New Orleans—returned to his home by way of the Mississippi and the Lakes, was summoned to Washington to make his report—attended—and reported—that "he had no report make."—Boston Gaz.

A SINGULAR RECOGNITION.

ANECDOTE OF GEN. SCOTT.

One of our citizens, an industrious and well known mechanic, whose veracity is unquestionable, related us yesterday the following interesting anecdote of Scott, which took place at Cleveland, a part of the time he was sent on the important duty of arranging the Canada difficulty, by President Van Buren. The morning after his arrival at Cleveland, he saw the proprietor, Mr. Schenks. The General wheeled and marched in:

"Good morning, Mr. Schenks," said he as he took the painter's hand—"do you recollect me?"

"General Scott, I believe," replied Mr. Schenks, "but how could you recollect me?"

"From having once before seen you under no ordinary circumstances. The last time I saw you, was in the hottest part of the battle of Lundy's Lane. Of three drums, two had been destroyed by the fire of the enemy. But one drum was left, and for that the three drummer boys were fighting, when a cannon ball killed two of them. The third one was yourself!"

"True, true, every word of it," replied the man with emotion.

"But, my brave fellow," said the General, "how did you lose your leg?"

"The man's deficiency of one limb," observed the man, "I lost it at the battle of Lundy's Lane, while carrying that drum."

AN IRISH TRICK.

If there is any people in the world who can travel cheap, it is the lower class of Irish emigrants. They appear to care little for the shrewdness and cunning for which they are noted upon railroad conductors and steamboat clerks, and are therefore carefully watched by those kind of money takers.

We have a case in point.

A few days since, while conductor Pettibone, of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad, was collecting fare from the passengers on an upward trip, in the second class passenger car he came across a distressed looking female, with an infant in her arms. We say looked distressed, for no sooner did she observe the conductor than she screwed her countenance into the most piteous shape.

"Your fare, madam," asked the conductor in his courteous manner, for Pettibone treats every body with politeness.

"I beg your pardon," replied the female, "but sure an' I'm a lone creature wid one poor child at the breast, sar, as you can plainly see an' it's meself that's goin' to Dayton, sar, widout a farthing in me purse, to try an' find me husband sar."

"Poor craturer," loudly exclaimed a stalwart son of Erin, who occupied the next seat, and seemingly felt an interest in the misfortune of his country woman; "poor craturer, the jantleman will surely pity ye."

"Pauibone cast a glance at the sympathizer, another at the "infant at the breast," and his scrutinizing eye readily detected quite a resemblance in the countenances of the two. His mind was immediately made up as to the nature of the case.

"I sympathize with you madam," replied Pettibone, "but really I cannot pass you without fare. You must pay, or I'll be under the painful necessity of putting you off at the next stopping place."

"Shame, Shame," cried the interested Irishman, "to threaten a poor craturer of a woman in that way."

"Indeed it is," replied the female bursting into tears, "for I'm only twenty days from the old country, wid no friends but me husband and me baby, and Patrick O'Flanagan, the policeman in New York An' I have never a cent, and me poor baby will starve, sar."

By this time the cars had arrived in Carthage and the conductor invited the female to step off the cars.

She at first entreated him most piteously not to shove her into the "cold world" but finding she could not persuade him, and that he was determined to do his duty, she turned a beseeching look to her countryman. He more interested than ever, cried to the conductor:

The conductor did stop, received the woman's fare from the Irishman, and then left them; as he was about leaving the car however, he heard the Irishman whisper (most too loudly, as Irishmen generally do) to the female:

"Sit down, Biddy darlint—the domed yankee's too sharp for both 'un us. He know'd the brat!"

As the conductor first supposed they were man and wife, and had taken this means to get rid of paying her fare.

A STORY WITH A MORAL.

Mr. BONES, of the firm of Fossil, Bones and Co., was one of those remarkable money making men, whose uninterrupted success in trade had been the wonder, and afforded the material for the gossip of the town for seven years. Being of a familiar turn of mind, he was frequently interrogated on the subject, and invariably gave as the secret of his success, that he minded his own business.

A gentleman met Mr. Bones on the As-sanpink bridge. He was gazing intently on the dashing feigning waters as they fell over the dam. He was evidently in a brown study. Our friend ventured to disturb his cogitations.

"Do you see that dam, my friend?"

"I certainly do."

"Well, here you may learn the secret of making money. That water would waste away and be of no practical use to anybody but for the dam. That dam turns it to good account, makes it perform some useful purpose, and then suffers it to pass along. That large paper-mill is kept in constant motion by this simple economy. Many mouths are fed in the manufacture of the article of paper, and intelligence is scattered broadcast over the land on the sheets that are daily turned out; and in this different processes through which it passes, money is made. So it is in the living of hundreds of people. They get enough money. It passes through their hands every day, and at the year's end they are no better off. 'What's the reason?' They want a dam. Their expenditures are increasing, and no practical good is attained. They want them dammed up, so that nothing will pass through their hands without bringing something back—without accomplishing some useful purpose. Dam up your expenses, and you'll soon have enough occasionally to spare a little, just like that dam. Look at it, my friend!"

PRACTICAL ILLUSTRATIONS.

During a learned lecture by a German adventurer, one Baron Vondulbrains, he illustrated the glory of mechanics as a science, thus:—

"De ting dat is made is more superior as de maker. I shall show you how in some things. Suppose I make de round wheel of de coach? Ver well; dat wheel roll round five hundred mile! and I cannot roll one myself! Suppose I am a cooper, von call, and I make de big tub to hold wine? He holds tons and gallons, and I cannot hold more as fine bottle! So you see dat what is made is more superior as de maker."

DECLINING ISAAC.—A lady once remarked to a friend of ours by the name of Mesick, "Your name is a singular one. I can never recall it to my mind."

"I will give you a key, madame," was the reply, "that removes all difficulty. Just decline Isaac, and give the objective case: Nominative Isaac; possessive Mesick; objective Mesick." The lady suitably acknowledged her first lesson in mnemonics.

RATHER GOOD.—[Scene—Connecticut River railway cars crowded to utmost capacity. Tall Yankee boy, with bundle on his arm, standing in the corner, unable to obtain a seat. Arriving at depot, the conductor, as usual, makes the fact known and sing out:]

"Will-a-man-sit" (Williamansett).

Tall Yankee, amidst roars of laughter from the passengers:—

"Ef course a man will sit; just show me a seat, and darn my dag'ery type ef I dont stick tew it till I hatch." The Pick.

A VOUCHER.—A man once went to purchase a horse of a quaker:

"Will he draw well?" asked the buyer.

"Thee will be pleased to see him draw," answered Nehemiah.

The bargain was closed, and the farmer tried his horse, but he would not stir. He returned:

"That horse will not draw an inch."

"I did not tell thee he would draw, friend," said the quaker, "I only remarked thee would be pleased to see him draw, and so should I, but he never would gratify me in that respect."

PERFUMERY.—An article that indolent young ladies make use of to supply the place of clean water and yellow-soap.

A "CRYING" EVIL.—To be awakened from your break-day snoozes by a fish butcher crying up the virtues of last week's porgies.

THE KING'S EVIL.—A free press and an untrammelled ballot-box.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.—The editor of the Tombigbee Bowie-Knife, says if the Clarion of Freedom calls his sister "grocery" again, he will sever his jugular with a hand-saw. The Clarion should pause.

"You destroyed my peace of mind, Betsey," said a desponding lover to a truant lass.

"I can't do much harm, John, for 'twas an amazing small piece you had any way."

"Of what is cider made?" "I don't know, sir." "What a stupid boy! What did you get when you robbed Widow Up-ton's orchard?" "I got a licking sir!"

A COLUMN OF FUN.

Lola Montes divides the people of Rome into two classes—soldiers and loafers—people who can't work and people who want. In the opinion of the Countess, there is more "sojering" and sleeping done at Rome, than at any other city in the world. When she was there in 1847, she said she only found one person usefully employed, and he was scratching himself. Complimentary, that.

Our milesian friends make some mistakes now and then. Mrs. Nicely bought a warning pan the other day. When she came home, she found Bridget, the servant girl, cooking griddle cakes in it. This is the same young lady who was sent to a dry goods store for a bed comforter, and returned with one of the clerks.

People who keep houses of refreshment on the line of the railroads, should never "serve up" till just before it's time to start, and then only with an eye to business—by which we mean hot coffee with hot milk, the whole in a boiling-hot cup, with a spoon as near the melting state as possible. This is the mode adopted in Massachusetts, and what Massachusetts does must be right.

The heirs of Robinson Crusoe have insinuated a suit to recover the island of Juan Fernandez, founding their claim upon the ground that he was 'monarch of all he surveyed.'

The phrase "don't holler till you're out of the wood," is in the refined language of the day, rendered, "it is not advisable for reasonable bipeds to exert their vocal powers in a boundless contiguity of shade."

"If you can't keep awake," said a preacher to one of his hearers, "when you feel drowsy, why don't you take a pinch of snuff?"

The shrewd reply was—"the snuff should be put in the sermon."

What things increase the more you contract them? Answer—Dewers.

They have musketoes in California with such suckers that they look at a distance like young elephants. To guard against their attacks, people have to wear copper-bottomed trousers and sheet-iron under clothes.

The inventor of the knock-knee syrup, has just patented a wash for sore-eyed potatoes. He obtained the recipe from Ezra P. Prentice, the gentleman who raised a sorrel colt from a horse chestnut.

The following question is now exercising the Debating Society of the Pseer-inum Institute: "If a dollar is equal to a hundred cents, how many 'cents' is a dead horse equal to?" We shall issue the decision on a 'yaller' extra.

If a shilling's worth of beef comes to nine-pence, what will a peck of apples come to? Answer—eight pie-pans and a stewing kettle.

A Western editor, in speaking of a military excursion that has just come off down his way, says the Captain took his wife, and the Lieutenant "his baggage."

Isn't that personal, as Skilligan said when a fellow wrang his nose. We pause for a reply.

Why is a man half asleep like twice six? Because he's a "doze-in."

The youth who perpetrated this was drowned on Saturday while fishing off the battery.

Lola Montes is so indignant at Little Raymond of the "Times," that she says if it were not for soiling things, she would take the kitchen tongs and wring his nose.

Why was Moses the first gambler? Because he was the first man who introduced "Faro" to the notice of the world.

Smithers says he never fell out with his wife but once, and then he lost by it, for it was out of a three story window into a mud puddle.

Dobbs says when a painter can no longer earn a living, he should throw away his "palette." Dobbs is right; what is the use of having a palette, if you have nothing else to reach.

Why are girls like clean linen? Because they are won by "soap." Take your foot off my corn.

Why is Winter like a cat-fight? Because it makes the fur fly.

Why is a successful merchant like a needle?—Because he's got an eye for business.

Which is the most helpless, a man without money or a locomotive off the track?

Dabster says that one-half of our "would-be" painters, are nothing better than "ought to be" glaziers. Dabster is getting bilious.

The heart has no avenue as open as that of slattery.

Law is like a sieve, you may see through it; but you must become considerably reduced before you can through it.

"Seh, how sheepish you look."

"Sheepish! I guess you would look sheepish too, if you lived on nothing but muton for a week, as I have."

GRAND WHIG CELEBRATION AT LOUISVILLE.

Whereas the Whigs of Kentucky have suggested the propriety of celebrating the 14th of September, 1852, the anniversary of the triumphant entry of Gen. Scott into the city of Mexico; and whereas the city of Louisville has been selected as the point at which the commemoration is to take place—we, the Executive Committee of the Young Men's Scout Club, of Louisville, Kentucky, by order of said Club, hereby extend to our brother Whigs of Kentucky and of the sister States—a general and earnest invitation to be present on the occasion, to join in the celebration and aid in the great and patriotic work of doing to him whose illustrious deeds have rendered the 14th of September a memorable day in our country's annals.

A splendid Barbecue will be prepared in a grove near the city, and special invitations have been extended to Gov. Jones, of Tenn., Gen. Wilson, of New York, Hon. Geo. W. Summers, of Va., Hon. Thos. F. Marshall, John J. Crittenden, Jos. R. Underwood, Wm. T. Ward, and Garret Davis, of Ky., and to other distinguished orators from various parts of the Union, who are expected to be present on the occasion.

Gen. Pierce's Letter.

We publish below the letter of Gen. Pierce concerning his celebrated New Boston "loathing" speech. The remarks preceding it, are from the Louisville Journal, and we fully endorse them:

"We have received Gen. Pierce's letter to one of the editors of the Washington Southern Press upon the subject of the reports of his New Boston speech, and we give it below. The reader will see that it amounts to just nothing at all. Gen. P. says in general terms that the reports of his speech are grossly and absurdly false, but he does not say wherein they are, false, nor does he, like those hundred and eleven lying witnesses of his, say that they are 'wholly and in part false, mere tissues of falsehood from beginning to end.'"

"If the public wanted anything at all in this case, they wanted specific denials or specific admissions. We know that portions of the reports of Gen. Pierce's speech were correct, for the hundred and eleven witnesses confirmed the truth of important portions, even while denying in general terms the truth of the whole. The reporter of the Manchester Democrat repeated certain questions put by himself to Gen. P. during the speech and gave the General's reply, and we want to know whether the questions are denied or whether the answers are denied, or whether both are denied or both are admitted. The Democratic nominee cannot get off by saying that the reports are grossly false, when it is known that they are at least in part true—the public wish to know exactly what he means to gain say, and what he does not, so that they can compare his statement with testimony and affidavits already made or to be given hereafter."

"We freely confess, that, if General Pierce had given or were now to give specific denials of those two reports of his speech, we should not believe him. We have never heard any special imputations upon his veracity, but he knows, as well as he knows he lives, that, without a contradiction of those two reports he could not be elected to the Presidency, and there is nothing in his character or history, so far as we are acquainted with either, to make us doubt for one moment that he would speak or write an untruth for the sake of getting to be President of the United States, even if he did not feel under some sort of obligation to sustain the 111 men who rushed so recklessly forward to sustain him. The fact is, we don't half believe he is a ten man in New Hampshire, (members of the church of course excepted) that wouldn't tell falsehoods or deny the truth for the sake of the Presidency—and that too although they might not each have 111 men to keep in countenance by their aberrations from veracity."

"No candid and intelligent man will regard this letter of Gen. Pierce as even circumstantial evidence that the reports of his speech are not true. The letter has no more weight than the dust of the balance to prove anything more than that Gen. P. is frightened at the effect of the promulgation in the South of his New Hampshire views, his home opinions. It is stated by some of the New Hampshire papers, that a portion of his 111 witnesses were recently called on by leading Democrats to swear to their published statements, as an offset to certain anticipated affidavits from highly respectable sources, but that they one and all declined. If Gen. Pierce were called on to swear to the truth of this letter of his, possibly he might, in imitation of the discreet example of the 111, decline too."

CINCINNATI, N. H., July 23, 1852.
MY DEAR SIR:—Surrounded by present exigencies, I seize the earliest opportunity to reply to your letter of the 17th inst. I much regret that anything connected with myself should have been the cause of disagreement between you and the gentlemen with whom you have been associated in the editorial department of the Southern Press. I do not remember ever to have seen what purports to be a report of a speech delivered by me at New Boston in this State, in January last, until my attention was called to it as republished in the Republic. The pretended report is, and I suppose was intended to be, an entire misrepresentation. It is not merely untrue, but it is so grossly and absurdly false, as to render, in this vicinity, any denial of its authenticity wholly unnecessary. The two papers quoted—the Independent Democrat, published in this place, and the Democrat, published at Manchester—are thoroughly abolition journals, and have been and are, zealously opposed to the Democratic party. For a long time prior to the meeting at New Boston, and ever since, they have been unsparring in their attacks upon me personally, and in their bitter denunciations of what they have been pleased to term my slavery sentiments. But it would be something new for either of these papers to deny the consistency of my opinions upon the subject of the constitutional rights of the South in relation to slavery. My opinions and the avowal of them have everywhere been the same. Ever mindful of the difficulties and dangers which so long rooded over the assemblage of wise men and pure patriots to whose spirit of concession and earnest efforts we are indebted for the constitution under which we have enjoyed such signal prosperity, advancement and happiness, I have regarded the subject as too vital and delicate to be used as an element of sectional appeal in party conflicts. My action and my language in New Hampshire, touching this matter, have been at all times and under all circumstances in accordance with my action and language at Washington. My votes in the Senate and House of Representatives are not published in the Era for the first time."

"They have been again and again paraded to arouse the passions and prejudices of our people against me individually, and against the party with which it has been my pride and pleasure to act. There has been no attempt to evade the force of the record. It has been at all times freely admitted, and my position sustained upon grounds satisfactory in my own mind."

"I am not surprised to know that the attempt to prove me an abolitionist provokes much merrier among men of all parties here; and this week and untruthful sketch of what purports to be my speech is really too ridiculous to be considered in any serious light."

I am in the daily receipt of letters, propounding the greatest variety of curious questions upon all conceivable subjects. Letters of this character cannot be answered of course. No individual could command either the time or the strength the Herculean task would require. I may add, that such a correspondence would by no means comport with my views of duty. The Democratic party sent its delegates to Baltimore, not only to nominate candidates, but to re-affirm principles, and to present the leading issues upon which the canvass should be conducted."

If I could deem myself capable of improving the platform there adopted, it is quite certain that I should decline, either at the call of individuals or associations, to incur the charge of arrogance, to which any attempt to alter, amend or enlarge it, would inevitably subject me."

Your letter is of an entirely different character. It seeks truth in relation to an alleged fact; it speaks of history, to which too searching an appeal cannot be made. I appreciate the estimate you seem to have of my character for directness, and beg you to accept my thanks for your efforts to vindicate my claim to that trait, at least before the public."

I am, with high esteem, your most obedient servant,
FRANK PIERCE.

During the Fair will be a convenient time for those who owe us to come forward and settle, and for those who wish to pay in advance for the volume just commenced. We hope our friends will attend to this, as we are in need of money to meet some of our engagements.

Whig Meeting in Perryville.

The Scott and Graham Club of Boyle county, will meet in Perryville on Saturday, September 14, 1852. Hon. J. F. BELL and others will address the meeting. Let all attend.

A. I. CALDWELL, Pres't.

We have received the full proceedings of the meeting held at Sparta, Tenn., on the 13th ult., for the purpose of organizing the Southwestern Railroad Company. We will publish them next week.

We are indebted to Messrs. Meriwether, Ward, Breckinridge and Grey, for Congressional documents.

Our thanks are due and hereby tendered to Mrs. Sam'l. Wilson, of this county, for a basket of fine Sweet potatoes.

THE FAIR.—The Central Kentucky Fair, will be held near this place on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next. The exhibition will commence each day at 10 o'clock, A. M., and the Secretary, Maj. A. D. Meyer, will attend at the Law Office of C. B. Wallace, Esq., each morning from 7 to 9 o'clock, for the purpose of distributing tickets to the members of the Association.

The public generally, and the people of Mercer, Garrard, Lincoln, Boyle, Casey, and all the counties of Central Kentucky particularly, are invited to engage in this Fair and thus encourage the agricultural and mechanical interests of this portion of the State. The second day of the Fair will be devoted mostly to the exhibition of domestic articles, James, Linsey, Flannel, Quills, Socks, Butter, &c., &c., and the Ladies are respectfully solicited to attend and encourage that department.

To prevent confusion, it is requested that as many of the members of the Association, as can make it convenient, procure their tickets previous to the Fair, which they can do by calling on the Secretary of Col. U. ROBE.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.—We suppose Congress adjourned on Tuesday last, agreeable to a resolution heretofore adopted. Their adjournment is to the people the most acceptable act of the whole session.

The Fair to be held here commencing on Wednesday next, promises to be on a much more extensive scale than perhaps many imagine. Letters making entries of Stock, &c., for exhibition, have been received from many parts of Central Kentucky, and the whole affair will doubtless be one which will reflect much credit upon this section of our State.—There will be a spirited competition for the premiums in every department.

Hon. A. D. Hubbard has been appointed Post-Master General, and his appointment confirmed by the Senate.

Geo. D. Prentice, Esq., after urgent solicitation, has consented to become a candidate for Congress in the Louisville district, if the Whigs confer upon him the nomination. Prentice, of all others, could make a noble and triumphant service for the Whig party, than he can ever be paid for, and no true Whig would withhold his support from such a noted, talented, and energetic member of the party.

ANOTHER MAN KILLED IN GARRARD.—We are informed that a man named May, who was connected with the Evans in Garrard county, was shot at and killed while passing the residence of Dr. J. near Lancaster on Saturday last.

GEN. PIERCE AND HIS NEW BOSTON SPEECH.

We publish in another part of our paper, the letter from Gen. Pierce denying the correctness of the oft-quoted reports of his speech delivered at New Boston, in New Hampshire, in January last. We should have published this letter in our last paper, but were unable to do so, on account of the crowded state of our columns. We suppose that the people have already made up their minds how much of this letter to receive as conveying the truth, and how much to discard as being evasive of the facts in the case. For ourselves we are prepared to credit but a small portion of it. We do not know Gen. Pierce, (and there are precious few who do, out of New Hampshire,) and we therefore have no very conclusive proof that he is a gentleman whose veracity must not be called into question under any circumstances. The fact that he is a candidate for the Presidency, does not, in our humble judgment, make him any the better man, and that fact does not compel us to credit his statements and discredit those of others, and we believe equally pure men. We have no acquaintance with the character or history of any engaged in the controversy about what the General said in his "loathing" speech, except what we have heard since the General's nomination, but we know any of the rest as well as we do him, and if the testimony is to be received according to its amount, we think it decidedly preponderates against the "Granite Hero."

Gen. Pierce's 111 witnesses who certify that they did not hear him make the remark against the Fugitive Slave Law imputed to him, have it is said refused to back their word on oath, while a host of affidavits have been procured, on the other side, testifying that he did make the declarations alluded to. Among the latter number is a respectable and pious minister of the Gospel, endorsed as such by the Mayor of Manchester, the Pastor of the Baptist Church, and the Church Clerk. In addition, however, to the affidavit of the Rev. Mr. Foss, we have before us the affidavits (sustaining his) given by Abraham Cochran, Solomon M. McCurdy, Dan'l Andrews, C. W. Campbell, Rodney M'Callum, E. W. Griffin, and 13 OTHERS, who were present and heard the General's speech, and who now testify that his remarks were as reported. Now, who are we to believe?—General Pierce and his 111 witnesses, who refuse to give their affidavits, or these men who come forward and on oath, sustain Mr. Foss in his report of the General's speech, as published in Concord newspapers? The latter we choose to believe, and we think every reasonable man, free from prejudice, must do likewise.

The fact is, Gen. Pierce has seen since his nomination for the Presidency, that his chances for election are remarkably remote, and made remoter still, unless he manages to make the people believe that the reports of his speech are false. The Presidency is quite a tempting bait, and but few men there are who would not whirl around the truth a little to attain to that high office. The temptation, we are afraid, was a little too strong for General Pierce, and he has knocked under—gone astray—and all the bolstering up his friends can give, will not make it appear otherwise. His letter was written on the same day that the first affidavit was made against him, and doubtless had he foreseen that such a mass of incontrovertible testimony would be arrayed to refute that letter, it would perhaps have been very differently worded. But in the letter, the only proof he attempts to give to sustain him, is that the papers in which Mr. Foss's report of his speech were published, are thorough going abolition sheets, opposed to him, and the editors of which had been denouncing him on account of his pro-slavery feelings. Now, it does seem to us a little strange, as well as inconsistent, that an abolition journal would endeavor to injure an opponent, by endeavoring to create the impression that he was the most rabid free-soiler in the land, and publish his abolition speech to prove that he was a pro-slaveryite.

But, we have already lengthened our remarks more than we intended. We drop the subject for the present, with the recommendation to our readers to examine the General's letter and judge for themselves, as we have done.

HOES.—Sales of Hogs were made at Madison, Indiana, last week, at $5. new. At Cincinnati they are in good demand and stand at $4@4.25 gross.

CHOLERA IN PARIS.—The deaths from cholera in Paris during the week ending on Thursday last, were thirteen in number. We learn from the Louisville Courier of Wednesday, that it is still prevailing.

EARLY IN THE FIELD.—The National Democrat nominates Commodore Stockton for President, as the successor of Franklin Pierce. If the Commodore waits for that time, he may rely upon things never to happen. A good many four years ago were nominated as successors to General Cass.

ANOTHER MURDER.—On the 6th ult., a most atrocious murder was committed in Marshall county, Ky., by Jas. A. Sills, upon the person of Mr. Willis McCoy, a highly respected citizen. Sills has been arrested.

HISTORY OF LOUISVILLE.—We are indebted to the publishers, Messrs. Hull & Brothier, for a copy of the recently published "History of Louisville," by BEN. CASSEDAY, Esq.

This work is certainly a valuable one, and something of the kind has been long needed. It gives the history of Louisville from its settlement to the present year, and embraces all the statistics necessary to make it a complete and interesting record. The citizens of Louisville have long felt the need of giving publicity to the immense advantages they possess in a commercial as well as a social point of view, and they hail this excellent work as the great desideratum. Such books have been published in other cities, and their utility is fully apparent in the increased prosperity of those places. Mr. Casseday's book is expected to have a like effect upon the interests of Louisville, and this expectation is a reasonable one, for certainly no city in the west possesses greater manifest advantages. The work contains 250 pages, with a map of Louisville and its environs. Aside from its value as a history, it contains many interesting anecdotes, of the early settlement of the city, together with other matters, which will render it attractive to the general reader.

COUNTY ELECTORS.—The Commonwealth publishes a corrected list of the Whig county electors. The following list embraces those for this section of the State:

Boyle—Fountain T. Fox.
Lincoln—T. W. Varnon.
Casey—Frank Woolford.
Mercer—Wm. Thompson.
Garrard—G. W. Dunlap.
Pulaski—W. B. Moore.
Russell—B. E. Stone.
Cumberland—T. T. Alexander.
Adair—G. Suddeth.
Green—T. W. Lisle.

A telegraphic dispatch from New York, of the 27th ult., says: "The Express, of to-day, says they have seen a letter, from good authority, stating that the fisheries question is settled, and that the documents are on the Asia."

The Masonic Grand Lodge of Kentucky is now in session at Lexington.—The number of delegates in attendance is unusually large.

In Crittenden county, Ky., W. T. Wallingford has been found guilty of the murder of his wife, and sentenced to be hung on the 17th inst.

LARGE FAILURE.—The Cincinnati Commercial says that a firm of that city, largely engaged in the silk business, failed to meet its engagements, a few days ago for the sum of $200,000.

THE GREAT WHIG GATHERING AT LOUISVILLE.—The Whig mass meeting to be held at Louisville on the 14th inst., will doubtless be one of the largest gatherings ever witnessed in the West. Extensive preparations are being made to accommodate the thousands who will be in attendance, and we hope this section will be largely represented.

The unconquerable Tom Marshall seems to be "warming" Col. Johnson, the Democratic elector in the eighth district, at every appointment which they fill in company. It is said that Johnson always makes the first speech, giving as a reason, that if Tom addressed the people first, they would not wait to hear him.

The Democrats may justly have reason for looking with suspicion upon their platform when they reflect that it was framed by B. F. Hallett an out and out abolitionist and the author of the following resolution:

Resolved, That we are opposed to slavery in every form and color, and in favor of freedom and free soil WHERE-EVER MAN LIVES THROUGHOUT GOD'S HERITAGE.

JUST CENSURE.—It appears that the new Kentucky Senator, during his very brief term, has rendered himself more unobscurely notorious, and earned more compliments, such as they are, than any other Senator ever managed to earn in the same space of time. The New York Herald, a violent Locofoco paper, says of his call in the Senate for the amount of public money paid to Gen. Scott:

This is decidedly one of the most contemptible devices ever resorted to by a body of honorable men to make political capital for their parties.

The Wisconsin, another Democratic paper, says:

However such a measure might affect the candidate, it is a petty proceeding, and one which the Senate should have quashed without hesitation; we doubt not either Pierce or Scott has over-earned all that has been received from Government.

The Milwaukee Sentinel exclaims:

And to think that a Kentuckian should have offered, and an American Senate entertained and adopted such a resolution!

The Detroit Advertiser says:

That a representative of the noble, the brave, the chivalrous, and many sons of Kentucky should have allowed himself to be made the cat's paw of malice, cowardice, defamation, and demagoguism, only shows to what a depth of degradation a Locofoco has got to descend if he would comply with the demands of his party.

RODNEY IN RUINS.—Last Saturday week, the town of Rodney, Miss., was almost totally destroyed by fire. All the business houses, with the single exception of Drake & Griffin's, were consumed.

MR. PIERCE IN CONGRESS.—The Locofocos say but little of Mr. Pierce's career in Congress. They have published the fact that he was a member, but are silent in regard to his votes. In this they show some wisdom.

The journals of Congress show that he was a bitter opponent of River and Harbor Improvements, and invariably voted against all appropriations for such objects.

In 1833, he was a member of the House, and voted against granting pensions to soldiers who had served in the Indian wars.

In 1836, he voted against a bill to extend the bill for the relief of Revolutionary soldiers.

In 1851, he made a speech in the Senate against relief to the widows of officers who had been killed in the service of the country, and against extending the benefits of the act of 1832 to the widows or children of officers.

Throughout his Congressional career he gave no vote indicating the least sympathy for those who bought the liberties of the country with their blood; he made no speech which gives him the least claim to statesmanship; he did nothing to distinguish himself from the hundreds who have held a seat in Congress and have been forgotten as soon as their names disappeared from the Congressional roll.

Such a man is held up as possessing higher claims to the gratitude of the American people than the hero who has faithfully served his country for more than forty years!

MASS MEETING OF THE DEMOCRACY AT PADUCAH.—The Democrats of Paducah held a grand mass meeting a few days since. The Journal of that city gives the following account of the number present:

Democrats actually present: 9
Whigs: 2
Chaps standing at the door: 5
Fellow looking in at the window: 1
Members of Scott Club sitting on the stair-step: 2
Grand total: 19

CRIME.—There are eight men charged with murder, in confinement in the jail of St. Louis county, at the present time.

A portion of the hemp and bagging factory of Messrs. Hunter & Bruce, in Lexington, was destroyed by fire on Sunday night last.

PASSED.—A bill has passed both houses of Congress for the relief of Gen. Worth's widow, with an amendment allowing her $50 a month for five years. What a pity that Gen. Pierce was not in Congress to vote against it, as he did against the bills for the benefit of the Widow Harrison, and the widows of Revolutionary Soldiers. This patriotic General is strong in his opposition to the widows, and it was for this reason, we suppose, that he took such good care, while in Mexico, to prevent Mrs. Pierce from becoming one.

EXPENDITURES.—The National Intelligence shows by a fair calculation—taking war expenditures and everything else into consideration, and making all proper allowances in favor of both sides—that the present Whig administration is cheaper to the Treasury than Polk's by nearly five millions per annum. And still those beautiful pinks of consistency, known as Locofoco editors, are eternally "gassing" about "Whig extravagance!"

WHO BITES?—W. D. Mayhall, of Hawesville, Ky., advertises for sale, a fine improved farm, of 500 acres, one-half the purchase money to be paid when Gen. Scott is elected President, and the other half when he is inaugurated as such. The farm is situated within five miles of the Ohio river, on a fine coal field, and is said to be very valuable property. What Democrat is "enthusiastic" enough to face the music?

ANOTHER SLANDER REFUTED.—The following paragraph, contained in a letter of the Washington correspondent of the Richmond Enquirer, was republished a few days ago in the Nashville Union, from which paper it was cut and sent by Mr. Geo. C. Bain, formerly of Lexington, to T. H. Clay, Esq.:

"Henry Clay's son will not vote for Scott. It is said that he so declared to his father previous to his death, and that the great statesman approved his son's determination, and added that he would do the same if life were permitted to him. The Whig scribbles may deny this statement, but I tell you that this statement will be verified when Mr. Clay's remains shall be entombed."

To the letter of Mr. Bain, Mr. Clay promptly sent the following reply:

MANSFIELD, near Lexington, Ky., August 16th, 1852.

MY DEAR SIR: I received this morning your letter of the 13th inst., enclosing a paragraph from the Nashville Union of the 10th, copied from the Richmond Enquirer, and addressed to that paper by its Washington correspondent.

I give to that statement a most unequal denial. I never expressed a determination to my father to vote against Gen. Scott nor did he ever say that he would oppose Gen. Scott if life were permitted him.

You are at liberty to give what publicity you choose to this statement.

Truly, your friend,
THOS. H. CLAY.

MR. GEO. C. BAIN.

I will write to-day to Gen. Zollicoffer, from whom I have just received a letter on the same subject.

INVASION OF CUBA.—The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, referring to the late news from Cuba, says:

"Nearly all the prominent managers of the Cuban expedition are at present in this city; I do not mean the fighting men, but those whose plans planned the invasion, and whose purses paid the expenses. It is a fact that the Janus has never been dissolved, as it was reported it was, when the disastrous result of the Lopez foray was known. It has been working secretly for months past, and, so subsequent events will show, with as much practical efficiency as ever."

In consequence of the numerous crimes committed nightly in the city of Louisville, the citizens have held a meeting and adopted resolutions in favor of a volunteer police.

The Democratic papers of Michigan seem very indignant at the Whigs for exposing Gen. Pierce's course in relation to internal improvements. They think such conduct on the part of the Whigs very ungenerous and very outrageous. "Darn 'em," said a fellow at the battle of Bunker Hill, "they are shooting bullets at us!"

The Louisville Journal says: "A Green River correspondent asks if we can tell him anything as to the condition of the Whig party in the mountain counties of Kentucky. We can tell him, without meaning a pun, that it is upon rising ground."

We have frequently alluded to the skill of our friend BALDRIDGE as a Daguerrean Artist, and cannot help doing so again, since seeing some late specimens of his work. He is beyond doubt far the best artist we have ever had in our city, and we again advise all who want anything in his line to give him a call. The people appear sensible of his ability, if we are allowed to judge from the crowds that daily visit his rooms. Every body is invited to call and examine his large variety of specimens.

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS.—The advertisement of Messrs. Kennard & Co., of Lexington, should have been inserted two weeks ago, but was mislaid. We apologise to the gentlemen for our unavoidable delay in publishing it. They have one of the largest and finest stock of goods in their line ever imported to the West, and, knowing them to be the right kind of dealers, we can confidently recommend them as such to our readers.

CENTRAL HOUSE.—This Hotel, in four city, is continued under the management of Mrs. Griffin, widow of the late proprietor. She keeps a good house, and all who patronize her will be pleased both with her fare and charges.

EAGLE HOTEL, HARRISBURG.—By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that Mr. J. A. Petty has taken the "Eagle Hotel," in Harrisburg, formerly kept by Thompson. Of Mr. Petty, as a landlord, it is useless for us to speak, as his reputation for keeping a good house is widely spread. He always gives satisfaction.

INSURANCE.—We call the attention of owners of buildings, &c., to the advertisement of the Protection Insurance Company of Hartford. The season is approaching in which there is the most danger of loss by fire, and every man should have his property insured by a responsible company. By the great fire in Chillicothe, O., in April last, this company lost over $60,000, which sum was promptly paid when due.

Fish's Patent Air-Tight METALLIC BURIAL CASES.

THE subscriber having obtained the agency for the above Burial Cases, would call the attention of the public to them, as being greatly superior in every respect, to the common Wooden Coffin now in use, for durability, elegance, style of finish, &c. They stand unrivaled, and wherever they have been introduced they have obtained a decided preference over every other Coffin. Their neatness and their great convenience render them very desirable; while their cost being but little, if any, above that of the common wooden coffin, places them within the reach of all. Satisfied of their superiority, I have no hesitation in recommending them to this community. ## SOMETHING NEW!

An Argument in favor of Home Manufacture!

FURNITURE.

THE subscriber has now on hand a large and fine assortment of: Furniture, and which he proposes to sell on reasonable terms, and which will be warranted to be of the best material, and of the latest fashion. There has been some objection urged to buying Furniture in Danville, on account of the difference in price between the article manufactured here and that gotten up in larger cities. An inferior article of any kind, cannot command a fair price everywhere! In almost every case, what is made in reduction of price, is somewhere lost in quality. To make an article really good, there must be good materials and good workmanship, and these always command fair prices. This rule holds good in regard to the manufacture of Furniture, as well as anything else.

My present stock embraces almost everything in the line which can be called for, and I am constantly manufacturing, so that any article which may not be found in my Warehouse, will be

Made to Order.

On short notice. I employ none but the best workmen, and use none but the best materials. The citizens of Danville and the surrounding country are invited to call, examine my Furniture, and learn my prices before leaving home to make their purchases, as I am confident that I can sell GOOD FURNITURE on as favorable terms as the same can be had elsewhere.
